It's easy for a cable travel case to overdo it—pockets, sleeves, zippers, flaps, etc. The design collab with iJustine for this EDC Tech Pouch started with a simple set of guidelines: use top-notch materials, one simple compartment made of a durable mesh, and a zipper that will stand the test of time.

From there it was all about dialing in the size and the details. The PVC mesh allows the contents within this cable organizer case to be visible instantly. Continuous 3.5mm piping gives the pouch structure while remaining flexible to the pouch's internals. Additional structure and functionality are given to the spine of the EDC Tech Pouch from the tight nylon webbing. Each end of the webbing features a reinforced loop to attach a strap or clip.

You can learn a lot about the quality of a bag simply by sliding the zipper. The copper tooth zipper with double sliders with custom machined pulls in iJustine's signature pink was a must. The corner radius has been optimized for smooth and consistent pulls. All seams are cleanly encapsulated in nylon bias. To top it all off, inside the lip on each side of the cable travel case are 1" elastic loops that are perfect for that Apple Pencil or essential dongle that always seems to have legs of its own. The iJustine EDC Tech Pouch is ready for action wherever your stories take you.
