Features

- D-Tap flashlight
- Flexible gooseneck that holds position once set
- Ultra-lightweight and minimal footprint to put in any camera bag
- Multiple brightness settings with a red light option to be more discrete on dark sets
- Reverse polarity protection

The Firefly transforms any D-Tap Battery into a flashlight, allowing you to navigate a dark studio or aid you when it's time to wrap on set. The adjustable brightness on this sleek camera rig flashlight ensures your light is discreet. We even included a red-light stealth mode for situations when you need to keep the light as non-intrusive as possible. Its flexible gooseneck ensures the light is right where you need it and out of the way when you don't. As with all of our gear, we designed Firefly D-Tap Light to be as lightweight as possible. At just 2.1 and 2.6 oz the Firefly can fit in any camera bag.
