The Stalman iPhone Clamp by KONDOR BLUE is a premium smartphone rig designed in collaboration with creator Tyler Stalman. Available in both Vertical and Standard configurations, this clamp is built for social content creators looking to take their mobile filmmaking to the next level.

Most phone clamps and rigs become instantly unwieldy and defeat the compact power of smartphones. This clamp features smooth edges and a low-profile design that easily slips into your pocket—with or without your phone. It works seamlessly with a range of KONDOR BLUE accessories, allowing you to add power, media, mics, and more—all while maintaining the ultra-portable nature of your mobile setup.

The Standard Clamp features a ¼"-20 anti-twist mount on the back for mounting directly to—or through—the clamp. The top and bottom include 1/4"-20 threads with 15mm on-center ARRI-style anti-twist holes, and the base features an ARCA Swiss profile for quick tripod or gimbal mounting. It's a compact, universal option designed to fit seamlessly into any mobile rig.

Every line of the Stalman iPhone Clamp was painstakingly considered. KONDOR BLUE and Tyler Stalman collaborated, designed, and prototyped dozens of iterations over nearly a year to create something intentional, sophisticated, and scalable. Whether you're running your phone pared down with a simple mic or fully rigged for a professional shoot, the pro mounting options are exactly where they need to be. We can't wait to see how creators worldwide put it to professional use.
